

Lone worker/ Health & Safety

New provisions within The Health & Safety at Work Act are explicit in giving companies a Duty of Care to protect their workforce operating out in the field. First Call's Lone Worker monitoring solution allows organisations not only to meet the requirements of new legislation, but more importantly enables them to be sure of getting to any worker in trouble within a specified time period.

First Call provides a high standard of service. Operating from within the UK. First Call's experience in providing such support services spans over forty years. First Call Business Communications offers a call-handling service that reassures your customers and ensures that you retain them. It is in the nature of many commercial operations - from maintenance companies to estate agencies - that employees are sometimes required to work alone, and to visit unfamiliar sites, often in isolated locations with unknown individuals. Monitoring of such workers is essential in order to minimise risk and provide a rapid response in the event of accident or other potential danger. First Call Business Communications has developed a service which gives reassurance to both employer and employee, and is designed to be the best possible protection in these circumstances.
